Jerod McNeal Named Flames Baseball Coach

NASHVILLE, TN—Jerod McNeal, a 22-year-old Business graduate of Free Will Baptist Bible College, has been named coach of the Flames baseball team, according to Athletic Director Mike Phillips. McNeal, from Lake Butler, Florida, begins part-time coaching duties immediately.

Dr. Phillips said, “Jerod has begun recruiting student athletes, reserving baseball fields, evaluating talent, and working on strength and conditioning programs for the men’s baseball team, even though baseball season does not start until next February. His full-time coaching responsibilities start in February 2009.”

McNeal completed a B.S. degree in Business Administration this spring at FWBBC. He was also president of the John Bunyan Society his senior year. As a member of the Flames baseball team, he was named 2008 NCCAA Mid-East Region Player of the Year.

Former Flames coach Lynn Bracey said, “Jerod is the one of the best, if not the best, players I’ve ever seen. He is respectful and exhibits good Christian character.”
